Overview: This very large and spacious open plan one bedroom apartment has recently been partially renovated with new appliances and furniture. It has one large bedroom but can sleep 4-6 guests comfortably as the living room has an alcove with 2 pull-out beds that shuts with curtains for privacy (suitable for guests or younger children). In addition it has a sofa bed for 2. The apartment gives the impression of being bigger than it is with 2 terraces, one covered on the lower floor with a lounge area and a roof terrace which is as big as the whole apartment. There is a lounge- and dining area up there that seats 6 guests comfortably. Also a retractable cover for shade that covers almost the full terrace. It is situated in Aloha Pueblo, a super attractive and well kept urbanisation in traditional Andalucian style. The urbanisation is not fenced in but has a security guard and within the complex there are shops, a bar and cafe. There is one communal pool which is just metres from the entrance from this apartment. Important to note is that there are steps to get to the apartment (also within the property to get to the roof terrace) so it may not be ideal for guests with reduced mobility. There is no private parking but guests can park within the complex in available parking spaces or on the street outside under roof.
